

REBELS WOULD TAKE MEXICO CITY BY FORCE

Carranza Said to Object to Peaceful Transfer of Government
by Carbajal

PROTEST BY NATIONS

Europe and South America May Withhold Recognition of Constitutionalists

Washington, July 13.—Mexico is regarded today as the place where the next big scene in the Mexican situation will be staged. With Huerta about to quit and turn over affairs to the new foreign minister, Francisco Carbajal, the hope is expressed that a way might be found to peacefully transfer the government to the Constitutionalists and avert a military conquest of the capital by their triumphant forces.

Carranza has announced his unwillingness to deal with Carbajal, regarding him the creation of Huerta. It is strongly intimated, however, that if Carranza, after Huerta's elimination, should insist upon his original program, "the plan of Guadalupe," which provides for the military occupation of the capital, disapproval would be manifested by several European and South American nations. They might refuse to recognize Carranza unless he showed a disposition to give some quarter.

Villa Returns Currency.
Paso, Texas, July 13.—Five million dollars of Constitutional currency, and a freight car filled with stamping machines, seized several weeks ago at Juarez by Villa's officials and taken to Chihuahua, were delivered at Juarez today to a special representative of Carranza. It is reported that Treasurer Anaguila and other Carranza officers held at Chihuahua are at liberty and will arrive at the border this week.

The evacuation of Guaymas on the California gulf is still in progress today, according to reports. The Huerta troops are waiting for transports to carry them to some point in lower California.

Repairing Road For Huerta's Escape.
Vera Cruz, July 13.—Four hundred laborers, under orders from Mexico City, today began repairing the two mile gap in the railway connecting Vera Cruz with the capital. Demands An Investigation.

A GOOD PLACE TO GO

ONE BALLOON NOT REPORTED LANDED

Of Seven Others Which Finish Race
"Good Year" Makes Best Record

St. Louis, July 13.—"San Francisco 1915" of Springfield, Mo., is the only balloon not reported landed in the national elimination race begun here Saturday. It was last heard from while passing Duquoin, Illinois, at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, headed east.

Of the seven that landed yesterday the "Good Year" of Akron, Ohio, made the best record, landing at Constance, Ky., three hundred miles from St. Louis in an air line. The progress of the six others was hampered, first by lack of strong air currents and later by terrific storms miles above the earth.

William Trefts, aide to Pilot McCullough of the Uncle Sam, wired that they were carried at one time to an altitude of 19,000 feet in freezing temperature. The gas suddenly contracted and the balloon dropped to the earth, where the mercury was near a hundred. Trefts was overcome by heat.

"McCullough reached for the rip cord just as we struck the ground with a terrific thump," said Trefts. "The balloon bounded back into the air about seventy-five feet and on the second bound we ripped the bag and the basket settled on the bank of the Red River safely."

Balloon Reported Landed.
The balloon, "San Francisco 1915," was reported this afternoon to have landed near McLeansboro, Illinois, at 10 o'clock Sunday morning.

SCIENTISTS OF WORLD TO VIEW PHENOMENON AUG. 21

London, July 13.—The total eclipse of the sun, which is to take place on the twenty-first of next month, promises to be of special importance for science, and mainly for the reason that the zone affected by this phenomenon will spread over the greater part of Europe and Asia, and consequently will afford European scientists an opportunity of studying the eclipse in districts that are comparatively easy to reach and where scientific investigations can be pursued with every possible convenience.

Coming from the North Atlantic, the zone of totality will reach the Norwegian coast at about one o'clock on August 21. It will then pass to Sweden and then on to Russia, finally terminating in Persia. Nearly all civilized countries are preparing expeditions for the study of the eclipse, and a number of private expeditions are also being fitted out. In view of the climatic conditions prevailing, most of them have chosen southern Russia for their goal.

SUFFRAGETTE REAL IMPUDENT IN COURT

Militant Who Tried to Destroy Famous Church Is Indifferent

London, July 13.—When Anna Bell was arraigned today for trying yesterday to destroy the famous old church of St. John the Evangelist at Westminster, she said:

"I regret the beastly thing did not go up."

She congratulated the woman worshiper who had detected her setting fire to a fuse attached to a can of powder and said her smartness was worthy of a better cause. She advised her to become a militant. The prisoner then stretched herself full length on a seat and asked a woman warden to give her a pillow and wake her up when the case was concluded.

"Good-bye, you pay the bill," was her farewell to the magistrate when she was remanded.

NEGRESS IS VICTIM OF MOB'S VENGEANCE

Woman Accused of Beating Child to Death Is Lynched

Orangeburg, S. C., July 13.—Rosa Carson, a negress, was taken from the jail at Ellboro, near here, yesterday and lynched by a mob. She is said to have confessed to beating to death the twelve-year-old daughter of D. S. Bell Saturday.

The negress was taken to the scene of the crime by the mob and hanged to a tree. Afterwards the body was riddled with bullets. The purported confession was made, it is said, just previous to the hanging.

Searching parties found the body of the murdered child early Sunday, after an all-night hunt, partly hidden beneath a log and covered with wounds. The child disappeared Saturday while she was going to a field to drive home a cow. Suspicion was directed toward the negress on account of recent trouble with the child's family.

The justice, who came here on July 1, was in his usual health before retiring Saturday night, and had taken his customary evening outing on the board walk. Shortly after midnight he complained of feeling ill, and, although his physician, Dr. Rossin, who arrived Saturday from Washington, was summoned at once, Justice Lorton died at 5 o'clock Sunday morning. His wife and son, Horace H. Lorton, Jr., of Nashville, Tenn., were at the bedside. Mrs. Horace Van Deventer, a daughter, and her husband, arrived last night from Nashville, Tenn., and other members of the family are expected to follow.

"In order to avoid any bias by reason of the meeting of the state central committee," said the governor, "I will very likely make some statement regarding my course Monday evening. At present that is all I can tell you."

ORANGEMEN CELEBRATE; AVOID CLASH

Demands for Home Rule Exclusion Add Interest to Ulster Demonstrations

PLEDGE IS RENEWED

Cannonade in Londonderry Causes Nationalists There to Organize for Defense

Belfast, July 13.—The insistent demands of the Protestant portion of the province of Ulster for exclusion from the operation of the Irish home rule bill lent added interest to today's celebration of the Battle of Boyne. The celebration was carried out here with great enthusiasm.

Sir Edward Carson rode at the head of five thousand Orangemen, accompanied by life and drum bands and including a sprinkling of brethren from the United States and British colonies. They marched through the city of Belfast and then held a great open air meeting, addressed by Carson and other leaders. The Nationalist quarter of Belfast was carefully avoided by the demonstrators and on no occasion during the procession did the rival factions come in contact. A great crowd of tourists, including many Americans, came to see the procession and hear the speeches.

Londonderry Nationalists Aroused.
Londonderry, Ireland, July 13.—Orangemen here began the celebration of the anniversary of the Battle of Boyne with a cannonade, during which they projected explosives so they burst over the residences in the Catholic section of the city. The Nationalists, believing the cannonade a prelude to aggressive action on part of the Orangemen, organized for defense, but up to noon no collision had taken place.

While Orangemen were attending church Sunday, Nationalist volunteers brought in two automobile loads of rifles.

Covenanters Pledge Loyalty.
Drummers, July 13.—Orangemen's demonstrations here culminated in a scene of immense enthusiasm around a tiny platform, where the leader, with a Carson bible in hand, pledged the covenanters never to surrender to coercion, to remain loyal to the cause and never waiver in support of the leaders in their fight against home rule.

Washington, D. C., July 13.—The Clara Barton Memorial Association has been organized for the purpose of carrying into effect a project for the erection of a fitting memorial to Clara Barton at Glen Echo, Md. The famous Red Cross leader was born in the town of Oxford, Mass., but for the last eighteen years of her life she had made her home at Glen Echo. The tentative plans of the association call for the erection of a memorial building at a cost of $100,000. It will be in the nature of a museum and in it will be placed the relics, manuscripts, resolutions of thanks, etc., collected by Miss Barton during her long connection with the Red Cross society. It is also proposed to erect near by a training school for nurses.

NEW HAVEN DIRECTORS HELD CRIMINALLY NEGLIGENT; LOSS TO ROAD 60 TO 90 MILLIONS

ROBBER SNATCHES $8,000
IN MONEY AND CHECKS FROM GIRL CASHIER.

Miss Cohen thought the package wrapped in a newspaper would not attract attention. Payment on the checks has been stopped.

CARMAN COULD CLEAR UP CASE

So Says Prosecutor Who Intimates Doctor Has Facts

Freeport, N. Y., July 13.—The aim of the district attorney, Lewis J. Smith, is now directed at Dr. Edwin Carman, in whose house Mrs. Louise Bailey was murdered.

The district attorney said that if Dr. Carman would consent to tell all he knows about the events directly preceding the shooting, the mystery surrounding Mrs. Bailey's murder would be cleared up in five minutes.

In this connection it is pointed out that Dr. Carman has put several stumbling blocks in the way of the prosecutor's men. He even refused to let detectives examine his books, although he had previously agreed to do so.

The detective's purpose was twofold, first—and this is the most important point they wanted to clear up—was to see if there was any indication in books that Mrs. Bailey had called upon the doctor before the night she was murdered; and second, to try to find out by a process of elimination who the two women were who were in the doctor's waiting room when the shot was fired, and who ran out of the house.

Would Visit Women Patients.
It has been planned to visit every woman patient on the doctor's books and ask her if she was one of the women.

Whether or not Dr. Carman and Mrs. Bailey were friends, or had met several or many times professionally, is a point that has never been cleared up to the satisfaction of the district attorney.

"Do you know definitely whether Dr. Carman and Mrs. Bailey knew each other before the night she was murdered?" Mr. Smith was asked.

"Not definitely," he said, but his manner indicated that he has some information along this line.

Two Turns. Detectives were sent to look over the doctor's books after Dr. Carman had told Mr. Smith that he was willing to have them examined.

When the men arrived at the home and explained their mission, Dr. Carman refused to allow them to look over the books. His explanations was that any transactions between him and his patients were private and that it would not be proper for him to allow anyone to learn of these.

Held Back News of Murder.

There are several points which the district attorney would like to have Dr. Carman clear up.

One of these concerns the lapse of at least 45 minutes before Dr. Carman notified the police, district attorney or the coroner of the murder.

"One of Most Glaring Instances of Mal-Administration in History of Railroadings" Says the I. C. Commission

MAKES DRASTIC REPORT

Declares, in Statement to Senate, That Officials Should Be Made Individually Liable to Civil and Criminal Laws

Washington, July 13.—"One of the most glaring instances of mal-administration revealed in all the history of American railroadings," is the interstate commerce commission's characterization of the findings of the investigation of the New Haven railroad's financial affairs, reported today to the Senate.

In a report of thirty thousand words, probably the most drastic in terms of any ever made by the commission, the New Haven's directors were pronounced "criminally negligent."

Evidence pointing to violation of law has been transmitted to district attorneys in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New York, and the federal department of justice.

"A reasonable estimate of the loss to the New Haven by reason of waste and mismanagement," says the report, "will amount to between sixty millions and ninety millions. The directors should be made individually liable to civil and criminal laws for the manner in which they discharged their trust."

All of the commission's strictures were upon the management of the New Haven system under former President Mellen. "The present management," the report says, "cooperated with the commission and rendered substantial assistance in this investigation." The report cites these "significant incidents":

The marked features and significant incidents in the loose, extravagant and improvident administration of the finances of the New Haven, as shown by this investigation, are the Boston & Maine dispoilment; the inequity of the West Chester acquisition; the double price paid for the Rhode Island trolleys; recklessness in the purchase of the Connecticut & Massachusetts trolleys at prices in excess of the market value; unwarranted expenditure of large amount in educating public opinion; disposition, without knowledge of the directors, of hundreds of thousands of dollars for influencing public sentiment; habitual payment of untimely vouchers without any clear specification of details; confusion in the inter-relationships of the principal company and subsidiaries, and consequent complication of accounts; the practice of financial ledger-domin in issuing large blocks of New Haven stocks for notes of the New England Navigation Co., and the manipulation of these securities back and forth; fictitious sales of New Haven stock to friendly parties with the design of boosting the stock and unloading on the public at a higher market price; unlawful diversion of corporate funds to political organizations; scattering of retainers to attorneys of five states, who rendered no itemized bills for service and who conducted no litigation to which the railroad was a party; extensive use of a paid lobby in matters of which the directors claim to have no information; attempts to control utterances of the press by subsidizing reporters, payments of money and profligate issue of free passes to legislators and their friends; investment of four hundred thousand in the securities of a New England newspaper; the regular employment of political bosses in Rhode Island and other states, not for the purpose of having them perform any service, but to prevent them, as Mr. Mellen expressed it, from becoming active on the other side; and the retention by John L. Billard of more than two million, seven hundred thousand in a transaction in which he represented the New Haven and into which he invested not a dollar; the story of Mellen as to the distribution of twelve hundred thousand for corrupt purposes in bringing about amendments of the West Chester and Port Chester franchises; domination of all the affairs of this railroad by Morgan and Mellen, and the absolute subordination of other directors to the will of these two; the unwarranted increase of New Haven liabilities from ninety-three millions in 1901 to four hundred and seventeen millions in 1913.
